The power house of the Duquesne Coal company at Newhouse, one mile east of Elkton, was destroyed by fire Saturday forenoon. The fire started in the wash room in some unknown manner. This room is located in the upper story of the frame power house building, and the entire structure was burned to the ground. The mine was in full operation at the time the fire was discovered, but luckily no person was injured. The burning of the plant will shut down the industry for ome time while repairs are being Some of the miners reside in Washingtonville The assessors in Columbiana cour have been to Lisbon to get their blanks and instructions, and the indications are that the auditor will pub lish a printed list of all the taxpayers, which list will show the full amount of property returned by each and every citizen in the county. It has also been suggested that the published list may include only those who return money or property to the value of over $1,000, thus placing them in a class by themselves. Judging by the returns of the assessors of last year, there will be over 13,000 persons in the county who will make returns under oath to the assessors of personal property. Last year there were 13. of returns made in the county, in-uding 2,600 in East Liverpool, 1,400 Salem, 1,100 in Wellsville, 900 in on, and so in proportion throughNight work still continues at the

The Johnstown flood sufferers of 20 years ago and the flood sufferers of Galveston of 10 years ago have remembered the Ohio flood sufferers this year by generous contributions of money and provisions. "Seed sown upon the waters will return after many days" saith the scriptures. There is now a little more than $1,000,000 available for Ohio flood victims

The dwelling house of George and Stephen McClun, near the eastern border of Green township, was entire destroyed by fire about 1 o'clock donday forenoon. Most of the furniture was saved and moved into the home of John Crumbecker. The fire is thought to have originated from a chicken brooder in an adjoining shop. House and barn are said to have been insured for $1000.

Emmor Entriken and granddaugh ters, Olive Beck and Ruth Entriken, of Franklin Square were here with relatives last week. Emmor looking up the army record of his brother, Byron C. In Tuesday's issue of the Salen News appeared the following editorial: "Representative Percy Tetlow has long held the reputation and distinction of being a true friend to the laboring man. He is making their problems a life study and when he advises them to pursue a certain course they usually listen to and heed his ad-Sunday afternoon he told them they should vote to have a new city charter framed in Salem and there is no reason to feel that they will cast his advice to the winds on this occasion. The Lowery bill will be vetoed by the governor, he told them, so that fear of its interference in the deliberations of a charter commission should be immediately dispelled." Sunday night was damp and disagreeable, yet a good-sized audience found seats in the Methodist church, where seats are free and people are always welcome. The pastor read the first half of the 7th chapter of Mat thew, and took his text from the 30th chapter of Proverbs, 24th to 28th verses inclusive, showing that the small and unnoticed things in this world are often object lessons for the wise. J. D. Woods had an operation per-formed on the back of his head by Dr. Conrad on Monday to relieve a severe pain in that locality. Richard Wilkinson is assessing the personal property of Salem township, and W. A. Roller is doing the same thing in Green township. The Lutheran Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Weik-art Tuesday night, and the Methodist ladies finished their quilt Wednesday night. Superintendent J. M. May of Lee onia was here Tuesday to procure a teacher to fill a vacancy in the south side school. This will be determined on Friday. Elden Holt has just bought a new picycle for his boys, and as there are thre or four of them he may yet have to compromise by buying them an automobile. Mayor C. A. Stouffer is suffering from a rupture received recently when blowing his nose, the strain affecting other parts of his body. He may submit to an operation. Mrs. Catharine Mellinger, 80, and day Mrs. Jane Sharley, 83, (sister of the late Jos. Frederick) having spent the winter with J. B. Frederick in Leetonia, were guests at the home of A.

L. Taylor on Wednesday. Dr. Conrad's stork left another lit tle daughter at the home of C. H. Weikart and wife Wednesday noon. They have named it Ruth, after its aunt Ruth Bosert. Her brothers and sisters are Donald, Bruce and Mary. Prof. W. H. Van Fossen, who was tyacher in the Lisbon schools for 17 years, addressed the pupils of our schools in the auditorium Tuesday morning. Judge Farr of the juvenile court 'as also expressed his willing ness to address our schools some time when not otherwise engagedpreferring to tell the youths and their parents low to keep cut of juvenile court, rather than to have them brought before him for sentence.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the following services next Sunday morning and evening in the Lutheran church: Sunday school at the usual morning hour. Morning worship at 10 o'clock, standard. Theme, "Out of the Ruts." C. E. So. ciety at 6:15. Leader, Mrs. Sarah Taylor. Topic, Favorite Verses. Sermon by the pastor, subject, "The Severity Christ." Special music choir. A special service by the C. E. Society will be held Sunday evening, April 27, for the benefit of the church es suffering from flood and tornado.

Much preparatory work 'is being done at Grafton furnace in Leetonia getting ready to erect the million dol lar steel plant. Some of the recently purchased houses will be torn down and others will be moved away bodily in order to have the land on which to build the plant. The village council has donated a street and sidewalk in order to make the purchases contin uous, and also to provide land for railroad switches, both safe and convenient. The people of both these villages are more unanimous as to the ultimate outcome of this steel plant than of anything which has struck us for many years. Nearly every branch of business has its financial failures; but iron has been "protected" so long
